FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- Do I have to use only the RSF Automatic Tennis Ball or all weather ball?
Our RSF tennis balls or all weather ball perform the best, however most other tennis balls that are approximately the same size and weight (e.g. official tennis balls) should launch.
- If my dog slobbers a lot and the ball is super wet will the ball still launch? Yes, the ball will launch but the distance will be decreased. Use a dry ball or all weather ball for optimal performance.
- How do you get the best performance from the machine? Use the included power adaptor and a fresh ball.
- If the distance is not being met what should I do? Check the power dial? Check the height trajectory and ensure its at the highest position, and lastly use a new ball.
- What if I left the machine outdoors and the machine has some slight dew on it?
Use a cloth to remove the excess moisture and wait for the unit to dry before powering on.
- Why won't the machine power on? Check to ensure the power adaptor is plugged in. Check to make sure the power dial is turned on and also if you are using batteries you may need to replace them.
- What happens if I put other things into the hopper? This is very dangerous. You should only use tennis balls or all weather balls with this machine. Failure to do so may cause injury or damage to your machine.
